REVIEW

Schwartz, Gail E. State of the Art: Corporate Behavior in Disability Management Survey Results. Institute of Rehabilitation and Disability Management, Washington, D.C., 1986.

A national survey of 400 major employers indicates, among other things, that psychiatric conditions, heart disease, and cancer are the most expensive health care problems for these companies. Over 60% of them reimburse their employees for various rehabilitation services while 38% have a staff person to coordinate disability benefits. Only 4% have a full time rehabilitation counselor.

These are just some of the significant results discussed in a report on corporate behavior in disability management. This is the first study of its kind to provide national data on issues such as short and long term disability, workers' compensation, return-to-work, job accommodation, health care, reimbursement for rehab services, and employee assistance programs. Information in this report is useful to health care and rehab professionals, public policy decision makers, union officials, physicians, public and private sector employers.

GUIDELINES FOR CONTRIBUTORS

The Vocational Evaluation and Work Adjustment Bulletin is published quarterly in order to provide practitioners, consumers, and educators with an understanding of information in vocational assessment and therapeutic adjustment services. The Bulletin concentrates mostly upon the methodology, program innovations, and instrumentation development within the areas of vocational evaluation and work adjustment.

Potential authors should not hesitate to submit an article on the grounds that they do not know how to write for formal publications. The content of an article is much more important than writing style. Editorial assistance will be provided to clarify and correct inconsistencies in style which could lead to misinterpretation by the readership. However, the content should be well organized so that the development of ideas is logical and the suggested conclusions are clear. Vocabulary should be simple and non-technical, except when technical language is essential to explain the topic at hand.

All manuscripts must be typewritten and double-spaced, with margins of not less than one inch. The title of the manuscript should be at the top of the first page, with the name of the author or authors immediately beneath the title. Four copies of the manuscript and four copies of its abstract (approximately 150 words) should be submitted, along with a brief statement of the author's name and address, organizational affiliation, degrees received, pertinent experience, and general interest in the field of vocational evaluation or adjustment services.

Authors should follow the reference style used in this issue of the Bulletin which closely follows practices suggested in the Publication Manual of the American Psychological Association. This manual may be purchased, for approximately $15.00 per copy, from the American Psychological Association, 1300 17th Street N.W., Washington D.C. 20036. Footnotes should be avoided when possible, and should be used only to further explain the text of the article. The origin of ideas should be acknowledged by including their source in the references.

Manuscripts should be submitted directly to: Dr. David Corthell, Editor, VEWA Bulletin, School of Education and Human Services, University of Wisconsin-Stout, Menomonie, Wisconsin 54751. Manuscripts will be acknowledged upon receipt. Following a preliminary review by the editors, they will be sent to three members of the editorial board or selected guest reviewers.

Upon review by the editor and the editorial board, manuscripts will be either accepted, rejected, or returned to the author for suggested revision. Approximately two months may elapse between the acknowledgment of receipt of a manuscript and notification of its disposition. The editor will submit to the author for approval any substantial changes which arise in editing. Acceptable articles are usually published in the order of their receipt.

Shofner, B., Long, S. eds. Human Resources Management: Cultivating
Quality in Rehabilitation, Charles C.
Thomas, 1987.

Managing a rehab facility and program requires great skill, not only to provide the best possible services to a diverse group of handicapped individuals, but also to motivate staff to do the best job possible. The editors of this book have brought together some pertinent articles on subjects such as designing appropriate training modules, developing performance evaluation procedures, the use of consultants to augment staff shortages, and utilizing visual aids for instructional purposes for clients and staff. This book is written primarily for those in private sector rehab. management, but it has broad application to other areas of rehab as well. There are many books on human resource management in business, but this is the first one to focus exclusively on rehabilitation.

Information for Authors

Terms of acceptance. The author is responsible for all statements made in the submitted manuscript, including changes made by the copy editor, unless the author challenges the changes at the time the manuscript is received for review and publication approval. Manuscripts are received with the understanding that they are not being considered by another publication. Although rejected manuscripts are usually returned to the author, the ANNALS is not responsible for loss.

Accepted manuscripts become the property of the ANNALS and may not be published elsewhere without written permission. Accepted manuscripts are subject to quality review concerning acceptability of illustrations, reference accuracy, and completeness. Manuscript style should be in accordance with the Publication Manual of the American Psychological Association (Third Edition).

Manuscripts not meeting the submission criteria will still be reviewed by the Editorial Board. If accepted, the author must agree to correct any deficiencies.

Typing requirements. All manuscripts must be typewritten on 216 x 280 mm (8.5 x 11 inches) heavy duty, white paper in one of the following typescripts: courier 10, courier 12, letter gothic 12, or prestige elite 12. All copy must be doublespaced, including references, legends, footnotes, and quoted material. Allow margins of at least 38 mm at top, bottom, and left and 25 mm at right. All weights and measures must be expressed in the metric system. More specific information regarding typing requirements is given in the APA publication manual.

Elements of the manuscript. Each element of the manuscript title (including author byline and affiliation and author's title, institution, and address), first page of text, synopsis abstract, references, and legends for illustration—should begin on a new page.

Synopsis abstract. The synopsis abstract replaces the summary. It differs in that it should not exceed 135 words in length and it is placed at the beginning of the article rather than the end. Include only essential features of the report. Emphasize data and avoid generalizations. Do not repeat the title of the manuscript.

Illustrations. Illustrations consist of all material which cannot be set in type, such as photographs, line drawings, graphs, charts, and tracings. Omit all illustrations which fail to increase understanding of the text. For drawings and graphs, use only black India ink on illustration board or a good grade of white drawing paper.

Illustrations should be numbered and cited in the text. Legends must accompany each and should be placed together on a separate sheet of paper (typed doublespaced).

Tables. Tables should be typed on separate sheets of paper. Tables will be set in type for publication.

Reference bibliography. The reference bibliography will be critically examined at the time of review for acceptance. Referencing and other matters of bibliographic style should follow the form set by the APA publication manual.

Order of publication. Articles are generally published in order of acceptance. Authors seeking early publication of accepted articles may expedite publication by payment of page charges. Authors of exceptionally long articles who prefer not to condense them may pay charges for excess pages. Charges are made because both arrangements result in added pages in the regular issue. Of course, these manuscripts must pass through the same Editorial Board review process as all other manuscripts.

Manuscript submission. Send a good original and two copies by first class mail. Designate one author as correspondent. Send manuscripts to: McCay Vernon, Editor, American Annals of the Deaf, Western Maryland College, Westminster, Maryland 21157.

Permission to Copy: As copyright owner of this journal, the American Annals of the Deaf allows single copies of an article to be made for personal use or multiple copies for classroom use. This consent is given on the condition that the copier pay the per-article fee of $1.00 per copy through the Copyright Clearance Center (CCC) Transactional Reporting Service for copying beyond that permitted by Section 107 or 108 of the U.S. Copyright Law. This consent does not extend to other kinds of copying, such as copying for general distribution, for advertising or promotional purposes, for creating new collective works, or for resale. Send payment to CCC, 21 Congress St., Salem, MA 01970, including the code: 0002-726X/85 $1.00

INSTRUCTIONS AND GUIDELINES TO AUTHORS

The guidelines for manuscripts furnished here have been approved by the Policy Board, in consultation with the Consulting Editors, for Volume 8 of the Journal. These guidelines will be in effect until they are modified by the Policy Board.

1. The official style for the Journal is that specified by the Publication Manual of the American Psychological Association (3rd ed.). Copies may be purchased from the APA, Order Department, 1200 Seventh Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20036.
2. Five double-spaced, typed copies of all manuscripts must be provided along with an abstract of 100-175 words and an executive summary not to exceed two double spaced, typed pages. For additional guidance on how to prepare executive summaries, please see Phillips, J.S., Kawski, V.B., & Puckett, F.D. Executive summary: An innovation in the format of the Journal of Rehabilitation Administration, Journal of Rehabilitation Administration 7, 5-9. The manuscripts should be mailed to the Associate Editor, James A. Bitter, Ed.D., College of Business Administration, University of Northern Colorado, Greeley, Colorado 80639.
3. The cover letter should indicate the section of the Journal in which the author thinks the manuscript should be published, i.e., Theory, Research, Practice or Readers Forum.
4. The cover letter should also indicate the author's suggestion as to which subject category(s) and sub-category is appropriate for the manuscript. The author should consult pages 158-163, Volume 8, No. 4 of the Journal for guidance.
5. In the case of multiple authors, unless otherwise indicated in the cover letter, the first author shall be responsible for (a) editorial revisions, (b) prompt reading of galley proofs, (c) ordering reprints, (d) providing reprints to readers upon request, (e) responding to review comments at the request of the editor, (f) releasing copyright and any other decisions relevant to the publication of the manuscript.

6. If needed, five sets of camera-ready illustrations must be submitted. All photographs must be black and white glossy prints (only one copy of glossy print must be submitted). All submitted manuscript copies should have legible xerox copies of these glossy prints attached. All tables and graphs must be easily reproducible. The editors reserve the right to limit the number of illustrations, tables and graphs in any manuscript.
7. The editor reserves the right to limit the number of references listed for any given manuscript, e.g., 20-25.
8. Except in rare instances as approved by the Consulting Editors, JRA will only publish manuscripts which do not exceed 24 double spaced, typed pages from abstract through executive summary.
9. Only original manuscripts are acceptable for publication although the editors will occasionally reprint published articles after receiving permission from the publisher and author(s).
10. Although feedback will ordinarily be given, the editors reserve the right to decline to accept a manuscript for publication without providing a rationale for their decision.
11. The author(s), and not the Journal of Rehabilitation Administration, Inc. are responsible for the views expressed in any manuscript which is published.

In March, the Library Director and Librarian attended the annual BRS Conference at the Copley Square Marriott Hotel in Boston. The MRC Library uses BRS for computer searches. The number of databases has increased significantly, and now selected databases offer full text searching. Full text provides printouts of book chapters, sections of reports and references other than journal information. This added service widens the type of materials accessible on line.

BOOK REVIEW - Dave Cain

Goldman, Charles D. Disability Rights Guide: Practical Solutions to Problems Affecting People with Disabilities. Media Publishing, Lincoln, Nebraska, 1987.

The author of this short paperback book is a Washington lawyer who has extensive legal experience advocating for the disabled since 1975. He begins with the firm belief that those who have a disability are first of all people with wants and needs like everyone else. He talks about common misconceptions and then reviews the pertinent laws on employment, accessibility, housing, education, and transportation offering his own helpful comments along the way. The appendix includes a glossary of terms, lists of legislation state by state with specific places and people to contact, concluding with a list of federal agency addresses.

226 Categorical Services in the Age of Integration: Paradox or Contradiction?

W.F. Gallagher

Beginning with a brief account of the students' strike at Gallaudet, the author stresses the importance of specialized services for, and often from within, populations with special needs. The author also points out the value of strong role models from within the blind and visually impaired population itself.

229 Generic and Specialized Services: Impact on Consumers

A. Husveg

The author traces the change of service delivery to blind persons in Norway from a specialized protocol to a much more general approach. He stresses that without flexibility the modern generic system will not fulfill the objective of delivering appropriate services to special needs communities.

231 Spatial Task Performance: A Meta-Analysis

D. McLinden

The technique of meta-analysis—synthesizing findings from various studies—is used by the author to examine the literature addressing spatial task performance of blind and sighted subjects. In concluding, the author suggests research to study differences within groups, not just between groups.

GUIDELINES FOR CONTRIBUTORS

The Vocational Evaluation and Work Adjustment Bulletin is published quarterly in order to provide practitioners, consumers and educators with an understanding of information in vocational assessment and therapeutic adjustment services. The Bulletin concentrates mostly upon the methodology, program innovations and instrumentation development within the areas of vocational evaluation and work adjustment.

Potential authors should not hesitate to submit an article on the grounds that they do not know how to write for formal publications. The content of an article is much more important than writing style. Editorial assistance will be provided to clarify and correct inconsistencies in style which could lead to misinterpretation by the readership. However, the content should be well organized so that the development of ideas is logical and the suggested conclusions are clear. Vocabulary should be simple and non-technical, except when technical language is essential to explain the topic at hand.

All manuscripts must be typewritten and double-spaced, with margins of not less than one inch. The title of the manuscript should be at the top of the first page, with the name of the author or authors immediately beneath the title. Four copies of the manuscript and four copies of its abstract (approximately 150 words) should be submitted, along with a brief statement of the author's name and address, organizational affiliation, degrees received, pertinent experience, and general interest in the field of vocational evaluation or adjustment services.

Authors should follow the reference style used in this issue of the Bulletin, which closely follows practices suggested in the Publication Manual of the American Psychological Association. This manual may be purchased, for approximately $15.00 per copy, from the American Psychological Association, 1300 17th Street N.W., Washington D.C. 20036. Footnotes should be avoided when possible, and should be used only to further explain the text of the article. The origin of ideas should be acknowledged by including their source in the references.

Manuscripts should be submitted directly to Dr. David Corthell, Editor, VEWAA Bulletin, School of Education and Human Services, University of Wisconsin-Stout, Menomonie, Wisconsin 54751. Manuscripts will be acknowledged upon receipt. Following a preliminary review by the editors, they will be sent to three members of the editorial board or selected guest reviewers.

Upon review by the editor and the editorial board, manuscripts will be either accepted, rejected, or returned to the author for suggested revision. Approximately two months may elapse between the acknowledgment of receipt of a manuscript and notification of its disposition. The editor will submit to the author for approval any substantial changes which arise in editing. Acceptable articles are usually published in the order of their receipt.

Bits & Pieces

A Bi-Monthly Newsletter and Acquisitions List

September-October, 1988

THE LIBRARY

The exciting news is that the MRC Library and the Administration Office are moving to brand new quarters! The move is scheduled for December, so requests from this issue of Bits and Pieces should be sent to the new address at Fort Point Place, 42 Wormwood Street, Boston, Massachusetts 02210, after December 13. To get there, take the Red Line to South Station and shuttle over to a more spacious, accessible facility on the first floor. The bright, roomy reading room will contain shelves, vertical files, and photocopier. Films and videos can now be previewed in a room set aside for this service. Current and back issues of journals will be located in adjacent areas still accessible to Library users. Come see us. We look forward to continue to extend quality service to the staff and the community at the agency's new administration headquarters.

Orientation to Technology for the Physically Challenged is funded by a grant from NIDRR to the University of Nebraska-Lincoln. There are three 28 minute half inch video-tapes which show newly disabled persons and their families just what devices are available for communication problems, and disabilities involving upper and lower extremities. It also shows how the devices are utilized. At the same time, a code number is flashed on the screen for the device shown, and the viewer with a provided pamphlet can identify the manufacturer of the devices.

Borrowing Procedure

Videocassettes must be booked in advance and will be sent out by mail. Cassettes may be borrowed for a maximum of 3 days. Caution:
Please mark "videotapes" on the return mailing package so that the Post Office will be aware of the contents and take necessary precautions for delivery. Borrowers will be responsible for damage to videos.

Information for Authors

Terms of acceptance. The author is responsible for all statements made in the submitted manuscript, including changes made by the copy editor, unless the author challenges the changes at the time the manuscript is received for review and publication approval. Manuscripts are received with the understanding that they are not being considered by another publication. Although rejected manuscripts are usually returned to the author, the ANNALS is not responsible for loss.

Accepted manuscripts become the property of the ANNALS and may not be published elsewhere without written permission. Accepted manuscripts are subject to quality review concerning acceptability of illustrations, reference accuracy, and completeness. Manuscript style should be in accordance with the Publication Manual of the American Psychological Association (Third Edition).

Manuscripts not meeting the submission criteria will still be reviewed by the Editorial Board. If accepted, the author must agree to correct any deficiencies.

Typing requirements. All manuscripts must be typewritten on 216 x 280 mm (8.5 x 11 inches) heavy duty, white paper in one of the following typesets: courier 10, courier 12, letter gothic 12, or prestige elite 12. All copy must be doublespaced, including references, legends, footnotes, and quoted material. Allow margins of at least 38 mm at top, bottom, and left and 25 mm at right. All weights and measures must be expressed in the metric system. More specific information regarding typing requirements is given in the APA publication manual.

Elements of the manuscript. Each element of the manuscript title (including author byline and affiliation and author's title, institution, and address), first page of text, synopsis abstract, references, and legends for illustration—should begin on a new page.

Synopsis abstract. The synopsis abstract replaces the summary. It differs in that it should not exceed 135 words in length and it is placed at the beginning of the article rather than the end. Include only essential features of the report. Emphasize data and avoid generalizations. Do not repeat the title of the manuscript.

Illustrations. Illustrations consist of all material which cannot be set in type, such as photographs, line drawings, graphs, charts, and tracings. Omit all illustrations which fail to increase understanding of the text. For drawings and graphs, use only black India ink on illustration board or a good grade of white drawing paper.

Illustrations should be numbered and cited in the text. Legends must accompany each and should be placed together on a separate sheet of paper (typed doublespaced).

Tables. Tables should be typed on separate sheets of paper. Tables will be set in type for publication.

Reference bibliography. The reference bibliography will be critically examined at the time of review for acceptance. Referencing and other matters of bibliographic style should follow the form set by the APA publication manual.

Order of publication. Articles are generally published in order of acceptance. Authors seeking early publication of accepted articles may expedite publication by payment of page charges. Authors of exceptionally long articles who prefer not to condense them may pay charges for excess pages. Charges are made because both arrangements result in added pages in the regular issue. Of course, these manuscripts must pass through the same Editorial Board review process as all other manuscripts.

Manuscript submission. Send a good original and two copies by first class mail. Designate one author as correspondent. Send manuscripts to: McCay Vernon, Editor, American Annals of the Deaf, Western Maryland College, Westminster, Maryland 21157.

Permission to Copy: As copyright owner of this journal, the American Annals of the Deaf allows single copies of an article to be made for personal use or multiple copies for classroom use. This consent is given on the condition that the copier pay the per-article fee of $1.00 per copy through the Copyright Clearance Center (CCC) Transactional Reporting Service for copying beyond that permitted by Section 107 or 108 of the U.S. Copyright Law. This consent does not extend to other kinds of copying, such as copying for general distribution, for advertising or promotional purposes, for creating new

GUIDELINES FOR CONTRIBUTORS

The Vocational Evaluation and Work Adjustment Bulletin is published quarterly in order to provide practitioners, consumers, and educators with an understanding of information in vocational assessment and therapeutic adjustment services. The Bulletin concentrates mostly upon the methodology, program innovations, and instrumentation development within the areas of vocational evaluation and work adjustment.

Potential authors should not hesitate to submit an article on the grounds that they do not know how to write for formal publications. The content of an article is much more important than writing style. Editorial assistance will be provided to clarify and correct inconsistencies in style which could lead to misinterpretation by the readership. However, the content should be well organized so that the development of ideas is logical and the suggested conclusions are clear. Vocabulary should be simple and non-technical, except when technical language is essential to explain the topic at hand.

All manuscripts must be typewritten and double-spaced, with margins of not less than one inch. The title of the manuscript should be at the top of the first page, with the name of the author or authors immediately beneath the title. Four copies of the manuscript and four copies of its abstract (approximately 150 words) should be submitted, along with a brief statement of the author's name and address, organizational affiliation, degrees received, pertinent experience, and general interest in the field of vocational evaluation or adjustment services.

Authors should follow the reference style used in this issue of the Bulletin which closely follows practices suggested in the Publication Manual of the American Psychological Association. This manual may be purchased, for approximately $15.00 per copy, from the American Psychological Association, 1300 17th Street N.W., Washington D.C. 20036. Footnotes should be avoided when possible, and should be used only to further explain the text of the article. The origin of ideas should be acknowledged by including their source in the references.

Manuscripts should be submitted directly to: Dr. David Corthell, Editor, VEWA Bulletin, School of Education and Human Services, University of Wisconsin-Stout, Menomonie, Wisconsin 54751. Manuscripts will be acknowledged upon receipt. Following a preliminary review by the editors, they will be sent to three members of the editorial board or selected guest reviewers.

Upon review by the editor and the editorial board, manuscripts will be either accepted, rejected, or returned to the author for suggested revision. Approximately two or three months may elapse between the acknowledgment of receipt of a manuscript and notification of its disposition. The editor will submit to the author for approval any substantial changes which arise in editing. Acceptable articles are usually published in the order of their receipt.

A Bi-Monthly Newsletter and Acquisitions List

THE LIBRARY

Special thanks to Dave Cain for putting the books back on the shelves, and setting up the back issues of journals for easy retrieval, in our new headquarters at Fort Point Place. The Library is back in business and staff is hard at work to get everything else in order to continue to provide for the informational needs of agency staff and the public.

The Library is aware that some borrowers of MRC collection are passing along publications to other persons. This practice is all right, but the first borrower is responsible for notifying the Library and for making sure material is returned to the Library. If the document is lost the first borrower makes arrangements to have a check sent for payment.

THE LITERATURE

The Library notes with pleasure and pride the recent book Buffy's Orange Leash written by rehabilitation counselor Lise Memling, and her husband Stephen Golder. The book, a picture book for children, is about how Buffy, a hearing dog helps alert a hearing-impaired family to sounds of the household such as door bells, telephone, crying baby, etc. Buffy is a working dog and is a joy to youngsters (and adults) when they discover how Buffy uses his special talents. The book is published by Galladudet University Press. Contact Library for a review from the Cape Cod Times, Thursday, January 5, 1989.

Ray Glazier, Senior Analyst with Abt Associates and President of the Information Center for Individuals with Disabilities shares with us his article, "Dimensions of Mobility Impaired Americans' Need for Adaptive Housing Features" which appears in Planning and Public Policy, Vol. 14, No. 2, August, 1988. Contact Library for a copy of the article.

Richard T. Goldberg, former Research Director at Mass. Rehab. Commission has written an article, "Comparison of the German and American Systems of Rehabilitation", in the January/February/March, 1989 issue of the Journal of Rehabilitation. See tables of contents attached.

Don Shrey, formerly with Boston University Rehab Counseling Program, is now located at the Department of Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation, University of Cincinnati Medical Center, Ohio. An authority on the injured worker, Don is editor-in-chief of the newsletter Disability Manager. In the February, 1989 issue are these articles of note:

- Ergonomics: A Vital Disability Management Intervention.
- Traumatic Brain Injury: A Neuropathy Perspective.
- Qualified Job Seekers Group: Eliminating Barriers to Job Placement.
- Poliomyelitis: An Old Disease with New Programs.

If you wish to be placed on the mailing list, contact Don in Ohio.

From the Scandinavian Journal of Rehabilitation Medicine 20: No. 3, 1988 the article "On the Application of the WHO Handicap Classification in Rehabilitation."

"Perceived Importance of Occupations by Adolescents With or Without Learning Disabilities" appears in the January, 1989 Journal of Learning Disabilities.

Schizophrenia Bulletin, Vol. 14, No. 2, 1988 has "Schizophrenia and Multiple Sclerosis."

SHHH January/February, 1989, Vol. 10, No. 1, has two articles of note:

BOOK REVIEW

Castellani, Paul J. The Political Economy of Developmental Disabilities Paul Brookes, Baltimore, 1987.

Thousands of developmentally disabled people are receiving a wide variety of support services in the communities where they live and work. This has solved some problems but created others. New kinds of providers and follow-up procedures are required. The relationship between human service agencies and the communities they serve is changing. What are the factors that determine the way services are provided and what are the consequences? Who are the real decision-makers in this situation? This is all explained in this informative book by Dr. Castellani who spent several years studying the subtle dynamics of the political and economic processes involved in providing necessary services for this disabled population.

COVER STORY

- 7 The Aging of America: Will the Healthcare—and Hearing—Professions React in Time?
What changes do the "graying" of the U.S. population and the attendant need for specialists in geriatric healthcare spell for healthcare delivery in general, and for hearing professionals in particular? And will the system be ready to handle them?
J. Monique Bebout
- 14 A Community Screening Program for the Elderly
Does adding a self-assessment of hearing handicap to pure-tone screening programs stimulate more patient action about hearing loss and ultimately bring about more hearing aid use? Results of this test provide some thought-provoking answers.
Tina Jupiter
- 18 Variability of Electroacoustic Analyses of In-the-Ear Hearing Aids
Are 2-cc-coupler measurements of ITE performance more variable than those of behind-the-ear instruments, and if so, why? This study indicates that varying test procedures could result in many hearing aids being needlessly returned to manufacturers.
Robert D. Madory & Robert W. Sweetow
- 22 Business Strategies: Preparing for The "Digital Age"
Now, in the infancy of the so-called "all digital" hearing aid, is the time to begin thinking about whether and how you will build this new technology into your business's product line, say the authors, in this review of the strategic considerations that every dispenser must face.

BOOK REVIEW

Salisbury, Christine L.; Intagliata, James, eds. Respite Care: Support for Persons with Developmental Disabilities and Their Families. Paul H. Brookes Co., Baltimore 1986.

Families who care for a member with a disability become worn out from their daily responsibilities and need a break for their own personal renewal and emotional stability. Respite care has become an important cornerstone of family support services nationwide. Such services continue to be a high priority item at the federal and state government levels. This book reflects the latest information on the subject and brings together 25 widely known authors in the field who discuss respite care from the parents' perspective to the national perspective, how to find the appropriate services and how to evaluate their effectiveness. Among these writers are policymakers, program developers, researchers, and parents of disabled individuals.

GUIDELINES FOR CONTRIBUTORS

The Vocational Evaluation and Work Adjustment Bulletin is published quarterly in order to provide practitioners, consumers, and educators with an understanding of information in vocational assessment and therapeutic adjustment services. The Bulletin concentrates mostly upon the methodology, program innovations, and instrumentation development within the areas of vocational evaluation and work adjustment.

Potential authors should not hesitate to submit an article on the grounds that they do not know how to write for formal publications. The content of an article is much more important than writing style. Editorial assistance will be provided to clarify and correct inconsistencies in style which could lead to misinterpretation by the readership. However, the content should be well organized so that the development of ideas is logical and the suggested conclusions are clear. Vocabulary should be simple and non-technical, except when technical language is essential to explain the topic at hand.

All manuscripts must be typewritten and double-spaced, with margins of not less than one inch. The title of the manuscript should be at the top of the first page, with the name of the author or authors immediately beneath the title. Four copies of the manuscript and four copies of its abstract (approximately 150 words) should be submitted, along with a brief statement of the author's name and address, organizational affiliation, degrees received, pertinent experience, and general interest in the field of vocational evaluation or adjustment services.

Authors should follow the reference style used in this issue of the Bulletin which closely follows practices suggested in the Publication Manual of the American Psychological Association. This manual may be purchased, for approximately $15.00 per copy, from the American Psychological Association, 1300 17th Street N.W., Washington D.C. 20036. Footnotes should be avoided when possible, and should be used only to further explain the text of the article. The origin of ideas should be acknowledged by including their source in the references.

Manuscripts should be submitted directly to: Dr. Darrell Coffey, Interim Editor, VEWA Bulletin, School of Education and Human Services, University of Wisconsin-Stout, Menomonie, Wisconsin 54751. Manuscripts will be acknowledged upon receipt. Following a preliminary review by the editors, they will be sent to three members of the editorial board or selected guest reviewers.

Upon review by the editor and the editorial board, manuscripts will be either accepted, rejected, or returned to the author for suggested revision. Approximately two or three months may elapse between the acknowledgment of receipt of a manuscript and notification of its disposition. The editor will submit to the author for approval any substantial changes which arise in editing. Acceptable articles are usually published in the order of their receipt.

Bits & Pieces

A Bi-Monthly Newsletter and Acquisitions List

November-December, 1989

THE LIBRARY

An MRC Library Open House was held October 31 at Fort Point Place. Several artists with disabilities exhibited their works, database searches were demonstrated, and three films were shown during the day. Thanks to staff and artists the day was a success.

Maya De, Assistant Librarian, is one of the authors of a book entitled Statistics for Library Decision Making: A Handbook by Peter Hernon, Ablex Publishing Corporation, Norwood, New Jersey, 1989. This book was published as a graduate class project at Simmons College, School of Library Science.

The MRC Library has a new entrance off the lobby of Fort Point Place. It is no longer necessary to enter the door through the cafeteria.

THE LITERATURE

In the previous Bits and Pieces, the Library mentioned a new journal called JOBS TODAY. The journal has been discontinued after only two issues.

Another new journal emerged by the name of Journal of the Multihandicapped Person. However, only the 1988 issues have been published. We await the 1989, and 1990 issues with trepidation.

Dr. Timothy Field discusses the vocational expert in private sector rehabilitation in the November, 1989 issue of the Field Report. The article "The 'Expert' Crisis."

The feature article of Physicare, a medical newsletter from Marianjoy Rehabilitation Center, Winnetka, Illinois, is "Clinic Helps Post Polio Patients with New Problems Years After Initial Illness."

Another relevant article in a newsletter, CUAP Brief (Connecticut University Affiliated Program) on developmental disabilities, Vol. 3, No. 1, 1988 "Persons in Transition."

"Emotionally Handicapped Youth in Transition: Issues and Principles for Program Development," is in the Fall 1989 Community Mental Health Journal.

Harvard Medical School Health Letter November, 1989 features an article on "Blood and Safety."

WCRI Research Brief (Workers Compensation Research Institute) has these articles:

October, 1989 - Employers Attitudes
About Return to Work

November, 1989 - Designing Benefit
Structures for Temporary Disability

In the December, 1989 issue of Career Development Quarterly there is "Issues in Career Decision Making for Workers with Developmental Disabilities," by D. Hagner and Paul R. Salomone.

The following articles are from Hospital and Community Psychiatry:

October, 1989 - Substance Abuse Among Chronically Mentally Ill

November, 1989 - An Advocacy Model for People with Long-Term Psychiatric Disabilities

December, 1989 - Family Experiences in Psychiatric Emergencies

In the November, 1989 issue of Journal of Learning Disabilities, "The Adjustment of Students with Learning Disabilities to University and Its Relationship to Self-Esteem and Self-Efficacy."

From Scandinavian Journal of Rehabilitation Medicine, Vol. 21, 1989 comes "Risk Indicators for Low Back Trouble."

Harvard Medical School Health Letter November, 1989 has more information on low back pain under the heading of The Medical Forum entitled "Oh, My Aching..."

Articles from Archives of Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation:

October, 1989 - Psychometric Prediction of Driving Performance Among the Disabled

Sexual Activity After a Myocardial Infarction

Factors Influencing Return to Employment After a Burn Injury

December, 1989 - Head Injury Outcome Up to Ten Years Later

The November, 1989 issue of Exceptional Children offers "Nationwide Survey of Post-secondary Education Service for Students with Learning Disabilities."

"Aging Parents with Adult Mentally Retarded Children: Family Risk Factors and Sources of Support" is in the November, 1989 issue of American Journal on Mental Retardation.

Mental Retardation, October, 1989 has "Indicators of Impact of Services on Persons with Developmental Disabilities: Issues Concerning Data Collection Mandates in P.L. 100-146."

Bob Sondheim, MRC staff member, wrote an article in the November, 1989 copy of INDUSTRY called "Home is Where the Work Is." about home based employment for persons with disabilities.

A new VHS videotape is available for circulation. Supported Competitive Employment: Implementating the Model. The video is 30 minutes long.

BOOK REVIEW

Howell, Mary C. et al, eds. Serving the Underserved: Caring for People Who are Both Old and Mentally Retarded, Exceptional Parent Press, Boston, 1989.

This book describes the three year Kennedy Aging Project developed and supported by the Schriver Center, Waltham, and the Mass. Department of Mental Retardation. Many professional disciplines worked together on this project to reach out to a group of people with two significant handicaps: retardation and aging. Medical science has discovered ways to prolong life. Now there is a growing concern to provide the quality of care to those who survive, especially the intellectually impaired. This book is a guide to care of these people who are traditionally underserved, overlooked and demeaned by cultural prejudices. The writers speak of the needs and desires of this population and offer their thoughts about the problems encountered in working with elderly retarded as well as suggestions to those who care for them. For example, each person has a basic right to remain in a familiar environment as long as possible. Each person has a right to be respected for his individuality as long as possible. Furthermore, each person, regardless of age or disability, deserves the attention and care that would be given to a member of the family in a similar situation. Not surprisingly, the attitudes of the people involved in the project changed as they continued to work with this group.

Information for Authors

Terms of acceptance. The author is responsible for all statements made in the submitted manuscript, including changes made by the copy editor, unless the author challenges the changes at the time the manuscript is reviewed with the understanding that they are not being considered by another publication. Although rejected manuscripts are usually returned to the author, the ANNALS is not responsible for loss.

Accepted manuscripts become the property of the ANNALS and many not be published elsewhere without written permission. Accepted manuscripts are subject to quality review concerning acceptability of illustrations, reference accuracy, and completeness. Manuscript style should be in accordance with the Publication Manual of the American Psychological Association (Third Edition).

Manuscripts not meeting the submission criteria will still be reviewed by the Editorial Board. If accepted, the author must agree to correct any deficiencies.

Typing requirements. All manuscripts must be typewritten on 216 x 280 mm (8.5 x 11 inches) heavy duty, white paper in one of the following types: courier 10, courier 12, letter gothic 12 or prestige elite 12. All copy must be doublespaced, including references, legends, footnotes, and quoted material.

Allow margins of at least 38 mm at top, bottom, and left and 25 mm at right. All weights and measures must be expressed in the metric system. More specific information regarding typing requirements is given in the APA publication manual.

Elements of the manuscript. Each element of the manuscript title (including author byline and affiliation and author's title, institution, and address), first page of text, synopsis abstract, references, and legends for illustration—should begin on a new page.

Synopsis abstract. The synopsis abstract replaces the summary. It differs in that it should not exceed 135 words in length and it is placed at the beginning of the article rather than at the end. Include only essential features of the report. Emphasize data and avoid generalizations. Do not repeat the title of the manuscript.

Illustrations. Illustrations consist of all material which cannot be set in type, such as photographs, line drawings, graphs, charts, and tracings. Omit all illustrations which fail to increase understanding of the text. For drawings and graphs, use only black india ink on illustration board or a good grade of white drawing paper.

Illustrations should be numbered and cited in the text. Legends must accompany each and should be placed together on a separate sheet of paper (type doublespaced).

Tables. Tables should be typed on separate sheets of paper. Tables will be set in type for publication.

Reference bibliography. The reference bibliography will be critically examined at the time of review for acceptance. Referencing and other matters of bibliographic style should follow the form set by the APA publication manual.

Order of publication. Articles are generally published in order of acceptance. Authors seeking early publication of accepted articles may expedite publication by payments of page charges. Authors of exceptionally long articles who prefer not to condense them may pay charges for excess pages. Charges are made because both arrangements result in added pages in the regular issue. Of course, these manuscripts must pass through the same Editorial Board review process as all other manuscripts.

Manuscript submission. Send a good original and two copies by first class mail. Designate one author as correspondent. Send manuscripts to: McCay Vernon, Editor, American Annals of the Deaf, Western Maryland College, Westminster, Maryland 21157.

Permission to Copy: As copyright owner of this journal, the American Annals of the Deaf allows single copies of an article to be made for personal use or multiple copies for classroom use. This consent is given upon the condition that the copier pay the per-article fee of $1 per copy through the Copyright Clearance Center (CCC)

GUIDELINES FOR CONTRIBUTORS

The Vocational Evaluation and Work Adjustment Bulletin is published quarterly in order to provide practitioners, consumers, and educators with an understanding of information in vocational assessment and therapeutic adjustment services. The Bulletin concentrates mostly upon the methodology, program innovations, and instrumentation development within the areas of vocational evaluation and work adjustment.

Potential authors should not hesitate to submit an article on the grounds that they do not know how to write for formal publications. The content of an article is much more important than writing style. Editorial assistance will be provided to clarify and correct inconsistencies in style which could lead to misinterpretation by the readership. However, the content should be well organized so that the development of ideas is logical and the suggested conclusions are clear. Vocabulary should be simple and non-technical, except when technical language is essential to explain the topic at hand.

All manuscripts must be typewritten and double-spaced, with margins of not less than one inch. The title of the manuscript should be at the top of the first page, with the name of the author or authors immediately beneath the title. Four copies of the manuscript and four copies of its abstract (approximately 150 words) should be submitted, along with a brief statement of the author's name and address, organizational affiliation, degrees received, pertinent experience, and general interest in the field of vocational evaluation or adjustment services.

Authors should follow the reference style used in this issue of the Bulletin which closely follows practices suggested in the Publication Manual of the American Psychological Association. This manual may be purchased, for approximately $15.00 per copy, from the American Psychological Association, 1300 17th Street N.W., Washington D.C. 20036. Footnotes should be avoided when possible, and should be used only to further explain the text of the article. The origin of ideas should be acknowledged by including their source in the references.

Manuscripts should be submitted directly to: Dr. Darrell Coffey, Editor, VEWA Bulletin, School of Education and Human Services, University of Wisconsin-Stout, Menomonie, Wisconsin 54751. Manuscripts will be acknowledged upon receipt. Following a preliminary review by the editors, they will be sent to three members of the editorial board or selected guest reviewers.

Upon review by the editor and the editorial board, manuscripts will be either accepted, rejected, or returned to the author for suggested revision. Approximately two or three months may elapse between the acknowledgment of receipt of a manuscript and notification of its disposition. The editor will submit to the author for approval any substantial changes which arise in editing. Acceptable articles are usually published in the order of their receipt.
